Court can vote a Legal Tax to raise money for the purpose of additional books.' " As Peirce notes "... A desire to its so doing (voting a tax for library books) being here implied for the first time in library history." (Peirce, p. 20) There is no doubt, however, that there were two separate collections, for evidence of the two libraries exists in the 1791 catalogue of proprietors, written in Emmons's own hand.
